Harp and Hands Strike a Chord at The Woodland Wellness Center.

For Immediate Release, Ellicott City, Maryland, October 26, 2009

Using ancient techniques and the latest therapies to reduce stress and pain, Carol Joy Loeb and Hulya Daniel, bring their unique holistic offerings to Howard County with the opening of the Woodland Wellness Center. Using vibroacoustic harp therapy, tuning forks on acupuncture points, live therapeutic music including chanting and toning, therapeutic sound and the latest in corrective skin therapy and detoxification treatments, these partners are creating a balance for healthier lifestyles at their Ellicott City Center that opened on October 24, 2009.

Carol Joy Loeb, a Vibroacoustic Harp Therapist, Certified Music Practitioner and Registered Nurse, now dedicates her nursing practice to the holistic integration of therapeutic modalities including sound, music and touch therapies. This non-pharmacological approach to pain and general well-being is receiving rave reviews. "This music is pure gold... This gold is heaven sent," states one client of Carol Joy's healing therapies. Known affectionately as the "Harp Lady in Healthcare Settings", this Howard County resident is a "National Treasure" who travels the country teaching these techniques that promote emotional, spiritual and psychological healing to others in the healthcare environment. Carol Joy and her magical harp have been featured on local TV, National Public Radio and in articles in The Washington Post and The Nursing Spectrum.

"We must sing.... and be sung to. Beautiful sounds on breath help us make meaning for our time here on earth together. Songs of living for the Song of Life. Carol Joy sings to us, whatever tribe we are from, in her beautiful voice, songs to help us all through in this lifetime." Dianne M. Connelly, Chancellor, Co-Founder, Tai Sophia Institute for the Healing Arts, Author of All Sickness is Homesickness and Traditional Acupuncture: The Law of the Five Elements.

Trained in the Classic European tradition, Hulya Daniel is a Medical Aesthetician, Endermologist and Senior Cosmetologist, licensed in the United States and Europe. At the Woodland Wellness Center she offers corrective skin treatments, stimulating healing at the deepest skin layers, for sun damage, fine lines and wrinkles, to the unique issues faced by cancer and burn patients. "I was getting compliments about my healthy skin after one visit with Hulya," notes a client after a recent anti-aging treatment. Ms. Daniel uses the latest therapies including laser treatments, a painless broadband light system for treating rosacea, veins and unwanted hair. The Ion Cleanse Therapy and the Infrared Sauna provide energy balancing and detoxification from environmental pollutants, good for those suffering from Fibromyalgia and children with Autism to name a few. Ms. Daniel's international training and 13 years of extensive clinical experience offer a balance for individuals in need of more than just a conventional therapeutic treatment through traditional healthcare.

“When I asked an upscale salon for their best aesthetician, they recommended Hulya without hesitation. I have been her loyal customer ever since. Her work is excellent.”

“People are in an organized state of dysfunction. Our job as healers is to disorganize this state and to work with the body to re-organize it to become a more functional state.” Patrick Speer, RM, CST former longtime instructor for The Upledger Institute, now in private practice focusing on “Total Body Assessment” and continues to teach throughout the country. At the Woodland Wellness Center, Carol Joy Loeb and Hulya Daniel combine their services to offer healing therapies to boost the immune system, reduce stress, control pain, detoxify the body and thereby support patients in the quest for a fuller and richer life.
